

Flute Artistry

"I am not in the least bit surprised that you have professionals driving from far to have you repair their instruments. One can tell that you have a special gift for what you do - also a passion. When a repair is done with love, dedication and a fine eye, there is simply no comparison to those who do not invest their energy and time as you do. If I were still living in Lafayette, I would be more than happy to spread the word about your wonderful work!"

At Pamina Blum's request, Brent has written a booklet with Professional writer Ruth Foster. This book covers some interesting flute history, and well as care and maintenance tips for students from beginners to professionals. There is also a chapter on repairs the player can do themselves in the event of an emergency.

Hopefully, the first copies will be available before the end of the summer. Please stay in touch.
